Spaniards Flee Before the Invading Army.

Awaiting News From Manila—Statement of Germany—Cornell's Victory—Segasta at Work.

ALL OF TODAY'S NEWS.

MADRID, June 23.—News of serious fighting near Santiago de Cuba has been received here. Admiral Cervera cables that the situation is critical and the governor of Santiago admits the Spaniards have been obliged to retire; but a Spanish victory is claimed.

MADRID, June 23.—A dispatch from San Juan de Porto Rico says an American cruiser appeared there and was attacked by cruiser Isabella, torpedo boat Terror and a gunboat. The American withdrew; one Spaniard killed, three wounded.

LONDON, June 23.—Madrid dispatch says there has been a battle off San Juan.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Miles, after receipt of dispatch of landing troops today, said there may be a fight today.

Shafter says his plan is to form cordon about Santiago and narrow in upon Spanish. Heavy ordnance and stores now being landed and when men at work are on shore all will be over, as troops are in camp.

The signal corps men are now building a land telegraph line from the end of cable system to Shafter's headquarters, eight miles away. Line will be carried along so that Gen. Miles will be in constant communication with headquarters.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—General Miles has received a report from General Shafter saying that all troops will be disembarked by nightfall. There was but little resistance and the only damage from the fire of the Spanish was one Cuban killed by the explosion of a shell on top of a hill where there was a camp.

Garcia has 6000 men attacking the Spanish to the north and east and expects to have 4000 more in a few days.

PLAZA DEL ESTE, Cuba, June 23.—Total number of troops at Baiquiri is 6000. All ashore safely.

BAIQUIRA, June 23.—Most of the troops here are quartered in abandoned houses of town of Baiquiri. Many of the women and children who fled have returned, but few men. Cheer after cheer went up from the transports and the band played a patriotic air when the Stars and Stripes were run up by the Eighth infantry. It was a stirring scene, and the grandeur of war was seen in all its glorious magnificence. Only American lost was one on the Texas during the firing at Mazamorro. One insurgent was wounded at Baiquiri.

OAKLAND, June 23.—Soldiers of Company F are busy today preparing to be mustered in the new regiment. Captain Wenk has received orders to get his men ready to answer an emergency call at a moment's notice.

BAIQUIRA, June 23.—On Tuesday evening 6000 American troops encamped here and in the vicinity; 10,000 more are on transports waiting to land. Sea and wind favorable. Five thousand Cubans are distributed between Guantanamo and Santiago, watching the roads.

When the troops first tried to land the Spaniards fired the town. The fire was extinguished by the Cubans.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The officials of the State Department deny the report that General Augusti has ordered warships to land men at Manila.

Edward Parks of Alameda has been appointed a junior lieutenant of the navy.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—There is no doubt in the minds of people here that the Senate will pass the Hawaiian annexation bill.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Navy Department officials are anxiously awaiting news from Manila, while no one believes that Germany has made any advances on landing any marines there will be uneasiness until next report is received from Dewey.

Gen. Miles proposes to lead army to Santiago and after capture of that place to proceed with troops at once to Porto Rico. The President does not approve of this action and probably will not permit Miles to go. They had hours of conference on subject this morning, but President will not give his consent.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—1:30. Quartermaster Long has sent the department a list of American ships now in San Francisco, and those soon to arrive there, and a decision will be made tomorrow as to impressment if no charter arrangements can be made. The list includes twelve vessels, sufficient to convey the remaining troops of the Eighth corps.

The Elite Attend.

A Grand Festivity at the Car- men's Ball.

Pursuant the predictions of the GAZETTE, the grand ball given under the auspices of the Carmen's Union proved to be the most delightful occasion that has been patronized by Berkeleyans.

Before the occasion was billed for commencement hundreds flocked to the scene of diversion, where this order of carmen, with 315 members enrolled, had prepared the Masonic Hall for the festival.

At 9 o'clock over 200 couples joined in the grand march, after which event Captain J. C. Barnal gave a pleasing recitation. Many prominent people participated in the event, among whom were Superintendent Tiffany of the Piedmont Road, Superintendent J. P. Potter of Alameda Road, ex-Superintendent A. K. Grim of the Grove-street Road; also Deputy Sheriff Wolser and Dr. J. G. Jessup of Berkeley.

The evening was one without alloy and the Carmen's Union realized $225 over expenses, which sum will be applied in benevolent chapels.

The Report Untrue.

Citizen Robert Steadman Yet in the Flesh.

A letter was received by Mr. Peter Steadman yesterday from his son Robert, who was reported a short time ago as being dead. The letter, however, proves the rumor to be untrue. The story probably grew out of the fact that Mr. Steadman was traveling through an unhealthy part of the country at the time. Mr. Steadman left Berkeley about a year ago in company with Messrs. Grant and McClellan, to engage in contracting and building. Mr. Grant, who is Berkeley's house mover, has since returned.

A Trip to Yellowstone Park.

Rev. Lyman P. Armstrong, the entertaining descriptive lecturer, will portray the wonders of Yellowstone Park, in a lecture at North Berkeley Congregational church, at 8 p. m.

The unrivalled canyons, mid-air geysers and beauties of vegetation will be portrayed with exactitude and interest. The proceeds of the entertainment will go to assist the Ladies' Aid Society in their branch of the work.

A round trip for only 15 cents.

A Foreclosure Suit.

The Homestead Loan Association, through its attorney, W. H. Waste, has commenced action in ejectment against Fred H. Gronsand to secure possession of property on Sixth street, between Addison street and Allston way, West Berkeley.

The Association has received a deed for the property of R. H. Currey of West Berkeley, from the commissioner in the foreclosure suit, W. S. Harlow.

AMERICA'S DUTY TO THE INDIANS.

An Excellent Address by Rev. Lyman Hood.

The History of the Pueblo Indians—Our Idea of the Indian—Is Incorrect.

Rev. Lyman Hood addressed the Concert of Missions in the First Presbyterian Sunday-school room last evening upon the subject of the "Pueblo Indians," among whom he labored for six years. He said if there is a primitive race, we believe that the Pueblo Indian of the southwest is of that race. Ninety-nine out of a hundred people who go down there fall in love with them. Our idea of the Indian is one who is fond of paint and feathers, wandering about careless of work.

There are 1500 Pueblos in (nineteen) tribes. They are more stable than any other race. Their name denotes stability. The country is almost cloudless; for months not one cloud will appear. Their houses are well built, first one room, and as the family grows one wing after another is added and when the tribe becomes very large they build rooms on top of each other until no doors or windows are on the outside. They have to climb up a ladder from the outside, and then down into the court from the top. This is to protect them from hostile Indians, who was always wandering about and fighting. This Pueblo tribe dwells in peace. Instead of hunting they are plowing and planting.

They are not only attractive in manner, but in person also. Their dress is simple, short skirts, but the most characteristic thing is the winding of their legs, from ankles to knees, in white buckskin, and they are very neat about themselves.

These Pueblos are American citizens by treaty and can vote.

Dr. James Marshall established a mission and did good work at Laguna, but was compelled to leave, and such has been the power of the Roman church that most of his work has been swept away. The Romans send a priest among them at certain intervals, and their service is very attractive to them. The Pueblo is not given to doing much thinking for himself or does not care to, and the priest will do all those things for him. Our country has done practically nothing for these people.

Each year there is a crucifixion—the person to be chosen by lot, and the scourging is something awful. One can trace the way by the blood. The Roman church is trying and succeeding rather well, in blotting out this terrible practice. It is sad to think that the remains of this once powerful race are to be found only in two territories.

Opposite to the Pueblo we find such tribes as the Apache, warlike and bloodthirsty. The beauty of an Indian maiden impresses us, but that same maiden at the age of 30 is a broken-down haggard old woman. We find this case in all heathen countries. It is only civilization that gives us our beautiful womanhood.

It has not been a very long time since the first public school was established in New Mexico. The bitterest political fight I ever saw was made by the Roman church against its introduction.

If there are those who wish to do missionary work, don't think that it is necessary to go to the jumping off places of the earth. It lies here at our doors, in our own beloved country.

One time, as I was in South Arizona, and approaching the Mexican line in a bus, we were trying to answer this question, What is to be the future of this great country when ahead of us on a hill we saw the light of one of the faithful Indians waiting and watching for his king, Montezuma, who was to deliver him from bondage. They are seeking the light.

Rev. Mr. Hood had a great many photographs and curios from the southwest. On a sacred crucifix, which is supposed to be very precious, it was very beautifully inlaid with straw. He also had baskets that would hold water, Indian gods, etc., which were inspected by those present after the service.

Mr. Hood's talk was very interesting and enjoyed by all present.

One Missing.

An Important Witness Not Present.

The case of Hemphill vs. Miller, in which the value of a canine's hide is at stake, was ordered hung up until July 9th yesterday, by order of Judge Clift.

The case was progressing finely, and the witnesses, twenty on each side, had withstood the scathing cross-fire of the attorneys representing the respective issues, when it was painfully ascertained that a woman, whose testimony will cast a weighty influence, as the plaintiffs think, was indisposed and could not be present.

The judge, in his characteristic anxiety to rush to a climax the gist in grinding, made the plaintiff's attorney produce a physician's certificate to this effect, which was done.

A Surprise.

A Benificent Act By One of Its Members.

At the Baptist Roll Call last evening as the responses were being received from the members in order of their enrollment, the sixteenth name enrolled was that of Mrs. Ada Law. In response to this call H. L. Gear, counsel for the church, announced that he held in his hand the deed of the lot on which the church now stands, received yesterday from Mrs. Ada Law, through her attorney.

The congregation arose and sang the doxology and were led in prayer by the pastor, after which the roll call proceeded to the end.

This deed completes the gift of $5,000 from Dr. and Mrs. Law to the church as pledged last October. The congregation have pledged and are paying in instalments $3,500, on old debt, making $8,500 pledged during the year, of which over $8,000 is now paid.

The Weed-Gundlach Nup- tials.

An Elaborate Ceremony—Con- gratulations from Foreign Countries.

The wedding of Mr. Benjamin Weed and Eva Carol Gundlach was celebrated at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bundschu, 245 Chestnut street, San Francisco, last Tuesday evening.

The bride is the daughter of the late Jacob Gundlach, the pioneer agriculturist of Sonoma Valley. The groom is the only son of Dr. G. A. Weed of Berkeley, and was the originator of commencement exercises in "Ben Weed's amphitheater." He holds the principalship of the Sonoma Valley Union High School, where his exceptional literary talents are shown at the annual graduation exercises. It was under his direction that the pupils recently produced the Grecian tragedy, Oedipus Tyrannus. He was the originator and composer of the famous, Bacchus Vintage Festivals, which are so elaborately presented during the vintages.

The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Geo. B. Hatch of the First Congregational church of Berkeley. The bridesmaids were Miss Mabel Weed, Miss Inez Stanch, Miss Louise Bundschu and Miss Lina Franzenholz. Manry Sims was best man, while Henry R. Gundlach, G. M. Wilder and Jesse D. Burks acted as ushers.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white organdie over white silk. The trimmings were of point lace and sprays of orange blossoms. Among those present were:

Mrs. Dr. Weed, Miss Mabel Weed, Mrs. Florence Chick, Guy Hyde Chick, J. D. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bundschu Carl Bundschu, Misses Louise and Alma Bundschu, Walter Bundschu, Master Rudolph and Walter Bundschu, A. Shilling, Edwin Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dresel, Miss Helena Dresel, Miss Agnes Duhring, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schild, Mrs. F. H. Dohrmann, A. B. C. Dohrmann, Dr. Elizabeth Corbett, Dr. Pishel, Professor and Mrs. Herbst, Miss Herbst, William Hess, Henrich Gundlach, Manry Sims, J. C. Sims, Mrs. Wagner, Mr. Porter, Miss Inez Strauebb, Miss Anita Hintz, Miss Edith Bean, Carl Rohte, Miss Rohte, Theodore Kirchhoff, Mr. and Mrs. Stauff, Arthur Fraunenholz, Mr. and Mrs. Solly Walters, Herbert Hopps and many others.

Theodore Kirchhoff composed a greeting to the bride, while Mrs. Charles Bundschu was the author of many festal songs, which made an elaborate souvenir.

About eighty people attended the banquet. After the ceremony, when several cable and telegrams were read from absent relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Weed made a flying trip to Berkeley yesterday, and visited the father of the groom, Dr. G. A. Weed, who was unable to attend the wedding. The happy couple then departed for their honeymoon tour through the Santa Cruz mountains, Del Monte, Pacific Grove and Monterey, after which they will live in Sonoma.

A GREAT convention of the Confederation of Women's Club is in session in Denver. The City Council of Oakland has been petitioned, by residents of Golden Gate, to compel the Southern Pacific Company, by ordinance, to employ additional help on the Berkeley local trains. The demands of the petition are that brakemen shall be on each side of the train and gates opened on both sides at that station during stops. The petition is said to have been signed up about 200 citizens and is now on file with the City Clerk, and will be published later.

GAZETTE readers who find it convenient can make a note and comparison of the fact that the war bulletins which appear in this paper in the evening are the basis—the crisp facts—of almost all the reports in the following morning papers. Presumed details are all right when they are correct just as any other guessing. Some of the war news bulletins included, is simply presumption; but if the bulletins are watched from day to day there is no difficulty in knowing the situation in every place we have interests.

CONSUMERS of water are liable to get into error in regard to an apparent partiality being shown by the water company, when they see some sprinkling and irrigating, while they themselves have had notice not to do so. There are a great many private water systems, operated from wells by wind or other power; these of course are not subject to control of any company: so that when one observes a citizen using water liberally it will be well to know whether they do not have their own supply, before entering complaint.

Stacey Rodgers' Trial.

Rodgers Gives His Statement of the Case

The GAZETTE has not published the details of this trial on account of its voluminousness, requiring more space than we could give it. As much depends upon the defendant's own statement, with the public mind, it is here given, as taken it is here given, as culled from last evening's Enquirer.

Stacey Rodgers, the defendant, was placed on the stand at eleven o'clock this morning. He testified that he was 21 years old and was born in San Francisco. He had known Edgar Halsey almost a year before the killing, and for two or three months in 1897 they had been almost constantly together. Met Halsey on the 29th of March last. Had heard he had made threats against defendant's life and wanted to know if it were true.

"I told him I had heard that he had threatened to do me—to fix me—the first time we met, and I wanted to know if that meant he would stick a knife into me. He said, 'You can take it anyway you like, and warned me not to go to Mr. Haynes' house again. He said Haynes had forbidden me to call again at his house. I went to the house about eight o'clock that night to see if Halsey's statement was true. Mrs. Haynes came to the door. I asked for her husband and when he came to the door I told him that I understood my presence was not desired by him at his house. He said, 'Yes, sir, certainly, excuse me.' I was just about to say I had called to see Mrs. Harrison, but did not have a chance to complete the question when I saw he was closing the door. I turned to go and had one foot on the lower step when I saw Halsey come rushing to the door with one hand up and the other extended. I believed he held a weapon in his hand. He exclaimed, 'You—and I saw the flash of a pistol shot and heard the report, that is all I remember of it.

"I had known Halsey to carry both a knife and a pistol, and he had had cutting affrays in Oakland and Berkeley and had killed a man in Guatemala."

On cross examination Rodgers denied that he had ceased to associate with Halsey because of Mrs. Eva Harrison. Rodgers admitted he had called on her at the instance of Henry McGrew. The latter had told defendant that Halsey was looking for him to do him up. Then Arthur Wilmott told him the same thing. Defendant then called where Halsey and Haynes were at work. Saw Halsey in the basement and was told that Haynes did not want him to call. Halsey also said he wanted no messages carried for McGrew by Rodgers. Had been very chummy with Mrs. Harrison for a year and a half before the killing, as were McGrew and Wilmott.

On the way to the Haynes house defendant was accompanied by McGrew and Wilmott, and Brast was picked up on the way. McGrew and Brast were sent to see if Halsey was in the neighborhood. Both McGrew and Wilmott were opposed to going with defendant to the Haynes house. McGrew said he didn't want to be called down by Haynes. When the shot was fired which killed Halsey he was within three feet of defendant and his right hand was almost touching the latter's shoulder.

Rodgers couldn't recollect whether he drew the pistol from his pocket or whether he fired the shot. He didn't know when he found the pistol in his hand, but it was there when he found himself on Alcatraz avenue, a half mile away. He then threw the pistol away behind a hedge. He remembered hearing Mrs. Harrison scream, "My God, Charley," and after that was out of his mind until he awoke to find the pistol in his hand. He then had a very good idea he had shot Halsey and went to give himself up.

Figures Don't Lie.

It doesn't take much knowledge of mathematics to figure out the facts about the dread disease, consumption. Statisticians long ago demonstrated that one-seventh of all the deaths in Christendom each year may be safely attributed to consumption and allied diseases.

There is an almost certain cure and a positive preventive for this fatal disease if taken in time. The story of what I did is told in the following letter:

"About two and a half years ago, when I was at Flat Rock, Ky," writes J. W. Jordan, Esq., of Corbin, Whitley Co., Ky, "I was taken with a severe cold, which developed into a chronic cough and was also troubled with night sweats. I was so short of wind that I could hardly walk half a mile at once, and I got the name of being a 'wheezy' man. I was afflicted with phthisis (asthma) and almost died for about two or three days. I concluded to try Dr. R. V. Pierce, and I related my case to him. He wrote me that I should take his Golden Medical Discovery, began using it and used about six bottles. I began to feel better and was able to continue its use. I did so and have improved both in strength and in weight. I have not had the phthisis nor spit up any blood since last spring."

This great remedy, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, cures 98 per cent of all laryngeal, bronchial, throat and kindred affections which, if neglected lead up to consumption. It strengthens the stomach and makes the appetite keen and hearty. It invigorates the liver and aids the natural processes of secretion and excretion. It makes the assimilation of the food perfect. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. Honest dealers will not urge you to take a substitute said to be "just as good."

Send for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice. Free. Enclose at once cent stamps to cover mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for a paper-covered copy. Cloth binding ten cents extra. It is a thousand page book with over seven hundred illustrations; formerly sold for $1.50. For limited time can be had for cost of mailing.

HER NAVAL LEADERS

SPAIN DEPENDS WHOLLY ON ADMIRAL CERVERA AND CAMARA.

She Relies Upon Their Strategy and Ability at Santiago and Cadiz. One Was Promoted by Royal Favor and the Other Earned His Rank by Merit.

Spain has now arrived at that condition where she bases her only hope and places her dependence upon two men, by whose strategy and ability she expects to be able to come with so formidable a power as the United States. These two men are Admiral Cervera, commander of the Cape Verde Squadron, now in Santiago harbor, and Admiral Camara, commander of the Cadiz fleet, which is now being placed in condition, and is expected soon to sail either for Cuba or for the Philippines. Upon these two men Spain places her reliance and stands or falls as they stand or fall. She has no other commanders, either in her army or navy, who are the equals of Cervera and Camara.

Pascual de Cervera y Torpede Conde de Jerez, Marquis de Santa Ana, is the somewhat long name and title of the Spanish admiral in command of the Cape Verde fleet which is soon to be captured and destroyed by Sampson and Schley. Cervera is a nephew of Admiral Torpede, one of the old time admirals of the Spanish navy, and probably in his time the best known naval man in Spain, for his fame extended beyond the borders of his own country. He was the leader of the revolt in Jerez, Spain, in 1868, which took place at the height of his career.

His mantle fell upon the present Spanish admiral. Cervera is now 65 years old. He was born in the province of Jerez. His father was a man of large wealth and owned several estates in the province and was known as one of the richest wine merchants of Spain. His mother was Marie Torpede, a daughter of Count Torpede y Valle of the royal family of Spain. They belonged to the aristocracy, and their son was afforded all of the advantages which wealth and position could secure for him. He was graduated from the naval academy of San Fernando, Spain, and after his graduation, in 1861, he was attached to several different training ships and further prepared for naval warfare.

He experienced his first campaign in 1859, in the Spanish expedition which was sent to Morocco, and for his services was successively promoted from ensign to first lieutenant. He was next sent out with an expedition in 1862 to Cochinchina. Spain then had a better standing among the nations of the world than she has today, and it was counted more of an honor to be a lieutenant in her navy.

Cervera was next promoted to the rank of captain and was placed in command of a vessel and sent out to Peru, where war was in progress. This was in 1868, and he remained there until two years later, when the Ten Years' war broke out in Cuba and Spain found it necessary to recall her fleet from the coast of Peru to engage in blockading the ports of Cuba and in patrolling the coast to prevent the landing of filibustering expeditions which were carrying supplies to the Cubans.

Cervera was recalled from Cuba later and made secretary of the navy in the Spanish cabinet. When he retired from that position, he was given the command of the Pelayo, the first and only first class battleship Spain ever built. Its construction was undertaken and carried on under the direction of Admiral Cervera, who was raised to that rank ten years ago. All of his promotions have come to him because of his family position and the fact that he is of royal blood rather than by any service which he ever performed for Spain, although his ability and long experience in the navy are not to be doubted.

Cervera has been adjutant to the queen regent and several years ago was at the head of the Spanish naval commission sent to London to confer upon naval matters with like commissions from other powers. He holds 15 medals which have been bestowed upon him by the Spanish government, and Spain counts him as not only her foremost naval commander, but one of her leaders at all times and particularly in the war with the United States.

Admiral Manuel de la Camara y Livermore, commander of the fleet now at Cadiz, is 60 years old and is also a graduate of the naval college of San Fernando. He entered the academy in 1851, at the time Cervera was leaving, and was graduated four years later. He is the son of a marine captain, who, in one of his voyages to Liverpool, met and married an English woman named Livermore. He was also sent on the expedition to Morocco and served on nearly all of the ships of the Spanish navy. Entering as a cadet, he has received promotion by merit rather than by favors. He was made a first lieutenant and a captain in 1871.

Camara is a man of very religious habits and melancholy disposition. While in service he is high spirited, in private life he is sad and is not found of society. He is said to be a great Biblical student and on shipboard is wont to read passages from the Scriptures to his sailors and has a habit when ashore of visiting and remaining for hours in the cemeteries and carrying a mournful and sad countenance. In his political affiliations Camara is, like Cervera, a devout monarchist, and was one of those who advocated bestowing the crown upon Alfonso XII. He was made admiral because of his strict adherence to the king. Consequently he is greatly favored by the present dynasty and could have been made minister of marine when the new cabinet was organized if he had expressed the desire to accept the position. Sagasta tendered him the office, but Admiral Camara refused, preferring to remain in the more active service in view of the fact that Spain was engaged in war with the United States.—New York

A Berkeley Invention.

A New Idea Presented to the Local Board.

Through the good fortune of an interested worker in the person of Colonel Greenleaf, the local Red Cross Society is the originator of a most unique antiseptic bandage, to be used in hospital service in the army.

Colonel Greenleaf in his official capacity is familiar with the needs of the hospital corps when out upon field expeditions, and has reported such information to the local society through Mrs. Greenleaf, president and organizer.

The headquarters of the local society were today filled with women and youths actively engaged in preparing plaster of paris bandages. These bandages are made from strips of cloth, some two and a half inches wide and three feet in length, upon the surface of which is spread plaster of paris. These are then rolled tightly and enclosed with paraffine paper, after which they are tied so as to prevent any air from striking the layer of plaster. These bandages, previous to application, are immersed in water; when wrapped together about fractured limbs it forms a hard coat.

A great number of these bandages are now in process of preparation, and the headquarters represents a place of enterprise and activity, while jest and mirthful conversation interspersed, render happy the busy moments.

His Foot Crushed.

Teal, the eldest son of Dr. J. T. Farrar of North Berkeley, who recently enlisted in the navy, met with a painful accident last evening. While the Umatilla was steaming toward Mare Island a mishap took place in the engine room which completely disabled her. Signals at once resorted to and were answered by the Monticello, which towed the helpless steamer to port again. During the bustle and confusion Mr. Farrar had his foot crushed between the two boats. The injury, though quite painful, will not result seriously.

The Baker Inquest.

Death by drowning was the verdict of a coroner's jury last night in the case of George M. Baker, whose body drifted on the Alameda shore Tuesday. John R. Dean of Berkeley identified the remains as being those of Baker. Deceased had been the witness partner in a coal business for four months up to May 30, when he was last seen by him.

They Know Good Fruit.

A new fruit stand has been added to the business enterprises of Berkeley, this time our commercial spheres are extended beyond national limits and take in two prominent fruit men from Australia, where the greatest varieties and qualities of fruit are known.

Messrs. Whittaker and George are at home at this business and their new stand next to the post office is a model of neatness.

Home Again.

Clyde E. Abbott has returned from a four months' trip through Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico. Mr. Abbott has been managing a portion of the work of the Harvey Hotel system along the Santa Fe route. While in Los Angeles he met Mr. Charles Okerlin, who has a candy store there. Mr. Okerlin was formerly in the confectionery business in Berkeley.

The region traversed by Mr. Abbott is very dry, and he says the farmers are very disconsolate over the prospect.

Desirable Addition.

Another attractive home will be added to the list of the many now in our city, by the erection of a new modern cottage which is being constructed by O. G. May & Co. for Mrs. Kate A. Forrester.

This new home, situated on Garber avenue, will contain seven rooms, well arranged.

The Misses Forrester are teachers of note in California schools, one of whom is employed in San Francisco, the other at Elridge School for Feeble Minded.

A Prominent Athlete Returned.

Mr. Fred Koch, whose record in athletics at the University is a brilliant one, was greeting old friends in Berkeley yesterday, after an extended absence of some months.

Mr. Koch can comment upon athletic interests of California institutions as compared with similar institutions, and finds many points of superiority in our athletes. The advice and policy of Mr. Koch was adhered to by the lovers of gymnastics when he was here, who wish he was among them again to render valuable assistance.

An Interrupted Meal.

Subpenas are out today for witnesses in the case of Hemphill vs. Miller. This case originated by the child in the case having unintentionally interrupted a dog, belonging to the defendant, in his mastication of a bone, which resulted, as the claim states, in the canine's biting the child. The defendant has a most formidable defense to reject all such accusations.

Justice Cliff's court will be the scene of the legal encounter, and many interesting features are to be presented.
